

Hello Resources

July - Skills for work, life and play

The power of communication helps you stand out from the crowd, connects you with people and live life to the full.

This month we continue support to help the pupil begin to categorise using everyday items. We are going shopping and there are different shops to visit and different things to buy in each shop. Sometimes this is a difficult skill for some pupils as they will only go to those huge super stores where you can buy everything you need in the one go. So we are going back to basics, bread from the bakers, to more sophisticated choices, cards and pictures from the gift shop.

Pages 2: Shops board: This page shows the different types of shops you might find on a high street, shopping centre or the different areas of a super store.

Pages 3-11: Shopping boards: These grids allow you to talk about what you are going to buy when planning your shopping trip or to use while interacting with people at the shop. Some of the boards highlight items to buy as well as types of items or colour desired. Why not try? Printing these pages out as many times as you like so you can play matching games or shop bingo? You might also use the boards to work with pupils who are working on categorisation skills.

Pages 12-13: Till and money boards: These boards have language that is often used while at the till as well as money for practicing making a payment and receiving change. Why not try? Role play games with adults and child taking turns being customer and cashier?
